Sales; they need to be in the for sale section. We have no way of knowing who is selling any item from another site; thats why there is a seperate forum for sales. A guy could put up links on every forum for a sale item under the guise of showing it to the members. I am sure Bill didn't do that but who'se to say someone else won't?I have to moderate this forum so I have an obligation to point that out.EEts my job.I don't like to stifle free expression thats why I ask that I not have to respond unless absolutely neccessary.Sokay by you?
