Subject: Re: Sound and Elevation
Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 12 Dec 2013 17:16:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes, the speed of sound is different at different elevations, and at different temperatures for any other reason, for that matter. But the difference is small, at least in the temperature range you are comfortable being in.