Subject: Re: What does Yamaha use Posted by Crazy Dave on Mon, 19 Jun 2006 21:18:32 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a Yamaha C4 and M4 that sound very good. In the literature it states that there are no electrolytic capacitors in the signal path. That help but I think sound engieering is a major part of why Yamaha sounds good. I suspect they also listen to there stuff.Dave

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com