I can only imagine how hectic things can get in the house with a school-aged child. Shopping for school clothes and supplies, sitting down for nightly homework, working on projects... I'm having flashbacks!!

We didn't do much for Labor Day; I think we just grilled out. We are actually planning a bigger celebration for the end of the month because so many people in the family have birthdays throughout this month. It's gonna be this mass five person birthday bash, ha!
