Thakns for the reply Wayne, I've read some of the links before asking and I'd thought it may be better across the shorter wall. Would the bed cause a problem if the speakers were firing down the room and the bed was on one long wall starting around 4' from the speaker, with the mid and treble being way above bed level would the sound be impacted much?

Would I be better with the 3 or 4pi? I could reuse the driver if I wanted to buld a cornerpi then?
