Nice to find a place where info can be exchanged and opinions given with little mudslinging. I am another "survivor" from the AA. I gave up posting and deleted my system. I like the tone over here and how possible problematic posts are handled. I hope it can stay this way, in spite of some posters obviously trying to rock the boat. I could say more about my opinions on AA but I am happy to leave it behind and I am glad that my conclusions about the AA are shared by others. I look forward to contributing to the round table and helping make it a great place. Cheers all!
