

---

Subject: Re: Mono "flanking sub"

Posted by jonone on Mon, 26 Oct 2015 13:14:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks for replying Wayne!

So will a summed single flanking sub not help the floor and rear wall notch if it was placed between the stereo pair?

I don't know if it wasn't clear? But I'm planing on having one "flanking sub " by the stereo pair and one true sub 60hz and down nearfield.

If I run the mains large then the flanking sub won't be high passed, so would act as a second sub 60hz and down, but the mains will not have the benefit of being high passed. Do you think that would be more beneficial?

---