Subject: Re: And an even more indepth article
Posted by Manualblock on Sat, 05 Jun 2004 23:41:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have read that amplifiers clip far more frequently and at lower volumnes than we suspect. Maybe that accounts for why tube amps sound more musical. Something about infrasonic resonances and airborne feedback as well as RFI that reaches the signal regardless of shielding. How's the ASUSA el 84 doin'? Any further observations?