Hi Wayne, Thanks for the kind words. I figure I'm just a old coot that gets lucky sometimes with my designs. Yes I do like to encourage new comers and long time diyers. One of my prime goals is to get more folks into high quality audio and not have to mortgage the house in the process. And on the way gain some new skills and satisfaction from doing things yourself. BTW you are none to shabby with speaker designs. Every time I try that I end up with a lot of sawdust and something that looks like it came from the dump. I think I'll just stick to audio electronics..especially tube stuff.
