Subject: Re: Mono "flanking sub"
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 15 Jul 2016 18:41:50 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sweep them playing together and adjust volume until the amplitude response is smooth. Neither sub bass nor mains should be louder than the other. And yes, the midbass is where you should see this best, because that's where both mains and subs overlap. Both should be equally loud. But the goal isn't really to set them independently to match SPL; The goal is for the system to generate flat amplitude response.