

---

Subject: Re: Wireless headphones

Posted by moss24 on Tue, 16 Aug 2016 20:48:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The Noise wrote on Sat, 06 August 2016 15:28 Bose might have what you're looking for. If I used headsets a lot, I would save up the money to get something top of the line that has a history of lasting a long time.

If you want something good, open your wallet wide.

I agree with this. At times, we end up spending a lot of money buying stuff that keeps getting spoilt rather than using a good amount to secure an item of good quality. It does not hurt to spend a little more and enjoy in the long run.

---