With my cousins coming over to stay, my house is now dominated by (crazy) gamers. Is there any adjustment we need to check if we want to play games using the home theater system? I just don't want to break anything.