I'd like to find some affordable noise cancelling  earphones.  I know Bose is considered the gold standard, but are  they really that much better? Does another brand come close that  isn't as pricey?

I've checked on Amazon and found these and these.  Both have good reviews and the Sony brand is recognizable, but it's hard to trust that ever since Amazon was accused of having incentivized reviews and third party sellers with counterfeit merchandise.  What do you think?
