Hi, I suggest that if at all possible you listen to the phones first. Some places like Best Buy and Fry's Electronics have them set up for just that purpose. If not be sure you can send them back. My personal opinion of Beats and Bose is that they are over hyped. Sort of a fashion statement over performance. Look at Sennheiser, AT, Grado and other companies that are not so "hyped". You are likely to get a much better sound at less cost. Amazon (which I like) is not always the lowest price for gear although their return policies are among the best.
