

---

Subject: Re: Mounting your TV

Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 25 Aug 2017 14:16:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I like the video to be straight in front of the viewers. A little up is OK but not much. The front main speakers should be equal in height to the video screen too - with left and right mains flanking the screen. I personally only use a center channel with acoustically transparent screens, and I put the speaker behind the mains. This avoids using a horizontal array below the video screen, because horizontal arrays are acoustically terrible due to comb filtering.

---