I enjoy most of my music from downloads, but I have a small bit of music that I enjoy that is only available on vinyl or CD.

My old Blu-ray player no longer plays CDs, so it's time for a new one.

I always used the digital output (optical audio) to feed my DAC.

I understand there are CD transports, but I'm not sure if they are really worth the extra dollars, or if it's more snake oil LOL.

Do most of you use a regular CD player or a Blu-ray player to listen to your CDs,?
