I think that most people consider the Golden Oldies the 70s and 60s. I don't know if I would consider the 70s the best era or not. I think there was great music, don't get me wrong, but a lot of other decades have stellar music as well. I don't really know what the classifications are for something to be called an "oldie." I'd be curious to see though. I'll have to go look it up.
