I really want to get a smart speaker because I love the idea of electronics doing all sorts of things just because I ask them to. Looking at the prices of some of these though, it seems like they'd be more expensive if they had high-quality speakers. Maybe I'm just being a pessimist . . . and I hope I am! Do any of you own one? If so, what kind and what do you think of the sound quality? Is it possible to hook these up to additional speakers?
