Subject: Re: Spotting antiques
Posted by Madison on Thu, 08 Mar 2018 16:15:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

EasyE wrote on Sat, 03 March 2018 20:18Your best chance may be to look up each brand name and look up their identifying features. For instance, I found this article about identifying Silvertone radios.
Part of the problem is that I can't always see the model number or manufacturer. Supposedly, that information might be stamped on the tubes, but that requires opening it up and I'm afraid if I ask to do it, I'll something up and be stuck with it.

Thanks for sharing those links. Maybe I should change up my strategy and focus on one or two specific types rather than "all antiques" which is overwhelming.