Subject: Re: The social aspect of music platforms
Posted by Rusty on Fri, 06 Jul 2018 16:51:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quote:I do think this is a fad though. It will subside; Later generations will become less chatty. I think people will continue to share in a multitude of ways, so all the connections we've developed will continue to be used. I just think people will bore of the trivia and it will eventually become bad form to publicly share minutia.
A-hmen to that. And it isn't just the millennial's. I've seen the facebook rambling's of older adults that include such insipid trivia. I have the least smidgen of interest in it. I like some anonymity.
One thing though, all those tattoo's the millennial's have won't be as easy to let go of as they age.