Subject: Re: The social aspect of music platforms
Posted by Groot on Tue, 10 Jul 2018 00:24:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I always think that the advancement of technology makes us lazy. Social media is a direct result of the invention of smartphones. The word social media itself might not be the correct term because the physical socialization and interaction is almost gone in our society today. People are communicating to their phones right now instead of the people around them.