This forum has a 5 image limit, so here are some bonus pics for the tweeter.

It is clear the mold was not up to temperature when the horns were cast, but a mold that size would take a while to warm up and add to the cost greatly.

It is a good idea to dress the area where the driver mounts, since it is anything but flat or smooth.

Here is an image of the completed tweeter showing the rope caulk wrapping, and rubber glued to the bottom to prevent it from moving around.
