
Subject: Cathode drive

Posted by PakProtector on Tue, 08 Mar 2005 16:42:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Given the wide variatin in grid circuit requirements between power valves like 211, 845 and 833 it seems possible to build a pre-amp to drive the cathodes. It also looks like cathode Z is near constant, even when the grid is drawing current....anybody try this yet?regards,Douglas
