What are your favourite internet radio stations? I really like exploring internet radio, because you can find some really weird and interesting music.

The latest one I have discovered is Radio Jethro Tull, which is really good to listen to. Jethro Tull were a folk rock band that were popular in the seventies, and their music has a certain something even now. The frontman was Ian Anderson, and he used to play the flute.

I also like to listen to non-English speaking radio stations, such as French ones, for brushing up my French.
