Subject: Need to invest in new radio - which make?

I want to buy a new radio, but am wondering which make to go for. In the UK Roberts seems to be a popular make of radio, although I don't think many people had heard of them up until a few years ago. Roberts seem to have suddenly become big with the arrival of internet radio.

Other makes I am considering are: Logitech, Tivoli, Revo and Naim, but I am also open to considering other makes.

I probably wouldn't want to spend much more than £200.

Any recommendations?
