I like the old Sherlock Holmes series with Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce. No one for me can embody the part of Sherlock like old Basil. And Nigel, playing a sort of bumbling foil for the razor witted Sherlock is not like the literature conveyed but comes across very endearing for my liking. Any Bogie film is good in my book too. I like the Noir crime film genre also. There's just ton's of great films from the black and white era's of film making.
