Subject: Re: Carpet In Home Theater
Posted by mamoss on Sun, 30 Sep 2018 15:59:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

johnnycamp5 wrote on Wed, 26 September 2018 18:46Malfoy wrote on Wed, 26 September 2018 08:05I don't think that the carpet type will make a big difference. From my understanding with my reading in this forum, sound quality can be affected by many factors, including the curtains, the furniture, the wall, the carpet, and even the coffee table.
Another factor not mentioned here-more often than not, effecting the quality of sound in almost every typical residential room.....
is the ceiling.
Well, in this case then, it seems that sound quality is determined by many factors, but just looking at one aspect will not sort the whole thing. I have never thought about the ceiling having an impact; seems I will have to research more on this!