Subject: Re: Is a home theatre system really necessary?
Posted by Pato on Mon, 29 Oct 2018 22:46:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You're right, my statement was incorrect. If I may rephrase, do you need an expensive home theatre system? For example, you've described quality sound as having the following components; high-quality stereo loudspeakers, stereo amplification, flanking subwoofers, distributed subwoofers, side surrounds, and so on. Is the difference massive between such a system and a more simple one, like the Creative Inspire T6300 speakers for instance?