The only problem I see is that Josh is 25 years old. How the hell does someone that young achieve that level of craftsmanship? At $22K a pair for the amps, I think that would be a great investment. His work is the stuff of legends.....ColinPS. Do you ever talk with Pete Millet? I read somewhere that he's playing with an 832 PP (or maybe SE) design. Is this true? I looked around for an 832 design and only found one good link (see below.) Pretty cool looking tube.....Colin
