Hi Wayne, Maybe....if we can get some chassis made. Lack of them has severely hurt our ability to do business. Rodney had to move everything as well to a new location and now everything is in boxes. That must be a vintage photo as the preamp and amps are here with me and BTW work just fine. I am using a quad of "Oddwatts" right now with two for subs and two for the mains. Passive volume and selection preamp, all tube phono preamps and an active electronic crossover between the amps. A little "sand" doesn't seem to hurt the sound any. :)
