Subject: Re: The DE912a Arrays of Awesomeness
Posted by gofar99 on Sun, 07 Jul 2019 02:55:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Nice build Fred. They are bigger than my Martin Logan ESLs, but your sub is much smaller. I have used the DEQ for room correction and it will do that. But I felt in the long run it did more harm to my acoustics than it did good. The Behringer electronic crossover (set for 24 db/oct at 45HZ 2 way) is another story. It is great for separating the sound to the subs and seems invisible.