There is an old stereo set-up I mentioned earlier in the month. (I promise I'll get the pics into Source soon) So, not to get too ahead of myself, do you think it's possible to fashion some LED lighting into the old system when I get around to that part of it? As I'm typing on my laptop, the keys are lighted. I was thinking about integrating something like that into that old stereo to give it a modern touch.

What do you think?
