Subject: Re: Coronavirus Doctor
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 27 Mar 2020 13:52:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I found it interesting that they realized the problem was airborne, so they attempted a form of social distancing very early on. They thought the air was "stinky" so they perfumed it - which didn't do much good - but the distancing part probably would have. They covered their whole bodies too, which would have helped limit contact. Past cultures also quarantined folks for a period of time.

All the same stuff we're doing now.