Subject: Vinylgeddon
Posted by Kingfish on Sat, 16 May 2020 16:05:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On February 6 of this year there was a fire. This was no ordinary fire however. This was in Banning California in a building where 75% of the worlds vinyl was made and pressed. The name of the company was Apollo Masters.

The effects of this will not be seen by us until next year when the shortage of new vinyl records will become apparent for those of us who buy them on a regular basis.

So if you are one those who still enjoy vinyl and buy them on occasion, this is why you might see any new releases in the near future.

Does anyone know who else presses vinyl?