
Subject: Re: Trigger finger is itchy
Posted by Rusty on Sun, 13 Sep 2020 20:07:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Whew! Done wiring...Finally. Did a cursory look over and called it a day. I'll go over everything this week. Soldering looks shiny enough, though sometimes I glommed a tad much. Soldering is a skill set that takes sheer volume of tries. I got much better towards the end. I'll go over everything and if all's well, button it up, put the knobs on and fire it up. Hoping against yet still, did I mess something up? That's what fuses are for. There are no fancy audiophile parts within, which a trained eye could tell. But, that's the philosophy of the designer. I'm alright with that.

File Attachments

1) P9130097.JPG, downloaded 479 times
