If you have an inactive or active lifetime subscription to SiriusXM from back in the day, then you should read about the settlement. I just got a letter about it.

It looks like a good deal for consumers to me. My lifetime sub is still active, but if it wasn't, I'd happily pony up the $100 to make it active again for this deal. I can't remember how much my sub was at the time, I think it was baked into the car purchase, but I'm sure I've gotten my money's worth. I think you have to decide by January.

I've never tried to switch radios from car to car. Is it difficult to do?
