I just take it in as another insult to the aging process. Caused like you, loud music, but of the live variety. I've had some sinus issues lately and I noticed yesterday that if I shake my head, I get a tone that sounds like a farfisa organ note sort of. Maybe I could learn to shake my noggin to make the sound of the farfisa from the song 96 Tears by ? & the Mysterians back in the 60's. Just carry on old chap.
