Thanks Barry.
"really works" is relative in this sense lol. Aesthetically they do blend really well.
Acoustically, they don't blend so well with the subs yet...and I'm still left dry with the lack of upper bass/mid bass presence. They're a different animal after all.

I'm still goofing with the miniDSP-HD EQ. Trying to get as much outta them as possible.
If I fail I'm already considering building another pair of 100" tall arrays to go right up against them.
12 small 6.5" woofers per side, band passed from approx. 50-250Hz.
Its a good thing I like to build...I actually look for reasons lol.
