Hey Pi guys,

Been some years. Used to post under Themilford. But the password retrieval function has apparently been disabled... anywho...

I'm going through my piles of parts and unfinished or dismantled projects and found I have two Eminence H290 flares, but they are different. I know it probably don't matter much, but I would like to get a matching pair. One looks a little rougher and is much heavier, als the plastic seems thicker... the finish on the front is a flat/dull texture coat. The other looks newer, is much lighter and thinner and has a glossy texture finish on the front.

Anybody have one or the other for trade? I would love another older heavier one. Either way I would like two matching ones and am happy to swap either to get a closer pair. I can post pics.
