This is where Ned Carlson from Triode Electronics is suppose to have gone. The link is under construction, but should be a great new source for vacuum tubes and related items with Uncle Ned at the helm.I wish him well in his new venture and am looking forward to doing business with him in the future.Norris WilsonPS. I have no affiliation with this company or Ned Carlson other than having gained respect for him by being one of his happy customers over the past 17 years.
