Subject: Re: The Intellectual People Podcast - Dr. Robert Malone
Posted by Rusty on Wed, 28 Jul 2021 20:02:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Being courted by the likes of Newsmax and Fox doesn't give me great credence, even though his credentials seem impressive. Peripheral net searching, he's not the sole "inventor" either of mRNA vaccine technology as seems to be a part of his pitch. He and others that have claimed the spike protein in the Covid vaccines is "Cytotoxic" have been debunked.
Personally I don't understand all the pushback with the totality of this pandemic has done socially, politically and economically. Being at war with this variant seems more the usual two halves of the politicized nation than the virus itself. Which I understand is and will be around from here on out. Like all the other malady's out there. Other vaccines have suppressed diseases only for them to re-establish from unnecessary falsehoods.

I've gotten my medicine and I'll take a booster if recommended. As I have since a child. And I wear a mask still in a public setting. Doing my part for myself and my fellow Americans.