Subject: Misinformation in Movies
Posted by Zart on Mon, 16 Aug 2021 15:38:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I know directors only want to make their movies appealing to capture the audience's interests. However, it's such a shame when they would go so far as to include false information in it. The thrill makes me excited at first, but it gets disappointing whenever I'd learn from the reviews the inaccuracy of a movie. What kind of misleading information is tolerable for you when it comes to entertainment?