Hitchcock of course was a master of the psychological thrillers. Like Psycho! North by Northwest, The Birds. Many more.
But if it's post 2000 you want. There's some way offbeat psyco-sci-fi films that may interest you. Beyond the Black Rainbow is pretty damn weird and hard to figure what, why and how. And Under the Skin, is very freaky. Slow moving, but bizarre. And a Spanish film called Time Crimes will keep you wondering till the end.
Those are plenty of movies that I haven't come across yet. Thanks, Rusty. My watchlist is suddenly filled now. I searched Beyond the Black Rainbow, and the trailer got me feeling high. Just from that, I understand you when you say it was weird.
