Hat's off! That's a real undertaking. I wonder how many people can wrap their mind around what an accomplishment that is. By all appearances there's no better choice than a Vans. They seem to really have it together. I was always lusting after something with tandem seating. I guess that's the RV8. I also liked the Bearhawk Patrol, but that's tube and fabric with all aluminum wings. Anyway, congratulations that is a great accomplishment and end product.

I meant to say MDF. I guess I have MDO on the brain. I was knocking on some cheap parts express speakers I put together and have to say they do feel nice and dead. So I'm going to try MDF.
