Hey Billy. I had a Bunn coffee maker that went south. I soon realized that I could just put the filter holder perched on top of the carafe minus the cover with my coffee grounds waiting for boiling water. I just boil water in a small sauce pan and pour it into the filter holder with better results than the original coffee maker ever did. It's richer and smoother. I'll never buy another coffee maker.

I don't seem to have a favorite snack or food while watching movies though. I'm like Roly Poly. A song about a chubby little boy by Bob Wills and the Texas Playboys. I'll eat anything from soup to hay.
