I guess I'm the odd man out here but I love the color of the JBL 2226 cone. I just love the looks of that speaker.

I'm used to gray cones - seems like most drivers are gray - and black is kind of a new thing to me, starting with fabric dome tweeters, then on subs with hard weighted cones. I do remember some paper cones in the 1970s that were died black or very dark gray, but most were gray in my recollection.
