Thank you Wayne! As for the gasket, been there done that. There is 2mm EVA tape underneath that Zobel. In fact, everything on the speaker has EVA. The crossover is going to be mounted on 1cm EVA (part of camping mat) because the pcb is through-hole and soldered on the bottom layer.

I also repaired the threads with the tap today. There's one that still has some difficulty to it no matter how many times I pass the tap. I'll live with that I guess and I will be extra careful during the final assembly.
