John Busch Audio Estate.

Here is what I think is in the storage unit that John left behind.

What you will see in the next post are photos of what actually IS in the storage unit. These photos were taken recently by John's brothers. So what you see in the photos is certainly there.

CAVEAT EMPTOR!

Also below you will see a list that is the 2018 inventory that John and I made. It is not currently accurate. However I have noted in the list the items that are visible in the photos. Those are listed first. As for the rest of it, there is currently no way to verify if it is there or not. So please, see the list of things only as "These might be there." Some of it certainly is, but we don't know details.

If that is not clear, please contact me about it. I want everyone to understand that because of the situation, we do not know exactly what is there. It's a best guess based on the old inventory, the photos, and what John told me about 3 weeks ago.
