Can you give me some piece of advice? I want to learn to play the keyboard. I have this mini one. I'm wondering if there's any good software that can teach you via midi and games etc. I remember when I learned to touch type, I used some software which was very good at teaching you with games and tests. is there anything like this for learning to play the keyboard? it doesn't need to have games or anything but it must be something that tells you what to play and then recognizes your midi input and gives you feedback. something along those lines.
