Thanks Norris, I did find his website.....as well as his outrageous prices for a single sheet of paper... I'd drop this in the trash before spending $75 for a copy of the schematic. I can break out the scope and signal injector if I have to.... It's just a lot easier with a print in front of you and I was hoping out of a forum this large that someone might just have one that I could get a copy of. I appreciate your reply! Regards, Bill
